A YEAR IN AUSTRALIA

This year I have studied under Victorian State Education Department at Terang High School. The State acts as the school board in Victoria and teachers are state employees. The Victorian school system is quite different to ours in many ways.

The school year is divided into three terms with two weeks break between them and six weeks from December until February summer holiday.

School uniforms are regulation in all schools even in the large number of boarding schools found in Victoria. Discipline is more strict both in enforcing uniform and behavior of the student. Terang's uniform consists of, for girls, navy tunic blazer, sweater and beret with light blue shirt and socks and black shoes; for boys, gray blazer, slacks, and socks, light blue shirt and black shoes. A gray tie with yellow and brown stripes are worn by both girls and boys.

The grades are called Forms which go from one to six where ours go from seven to twelve. Students may leave school at the age of 15 and there are three Forms that one can gain certification through external exams. These forms are Four, Intermediate Certificate; Form Five, Leaving Certificate; Form Six, Matriculation. Each has certain qualifications and Matriculation is the University Entrance Course. The exams are set by Melbourne University and are very rigid tests which determine failure or pass for a complete year. Questions on these tests are long essay questions.

Every school in Victoria has a student government represented by the Prefects. The Prefects are senior students who are elected to that post and act as a Student Council. Usually they have special privileges and a private study room.

Sport is held for all students one afternoon a week. The student body is divided into four teams or houses. Trophies and pennants are given both to individuals and houses at the end of the year. For Sport many teams are formed into the different sports within the communities so all people have a chance to play competitive sport.

These are a few of the major differences in our school systems. The Victorian system is more specialized and at a higher standard than ours. Respect is more prominent for headmaster and teachers in the high schools here.

This picture is of Form Six Matriculation Class of Terang High School of 1963 of which I am proud to say I was a student.

BLUE RIDGE RECEIVED SINGULAR HONOR

Mr. Schmick and Mr. Thomas confer with Chairman of Evaluating Committee.

Blue Ridge High School received the distinction of being a fully accredited school early in January, 1964, when officials received an official notification of accreditation from the Chairman of the Commission on Secondary Schools, Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Our high school thereby becomes the first of the Susquehanna County Schools to receive the honor of being on the list of schools offering a high quality of education.

Preparation for accreditation began at Blue Ridge in the 1961-62 school term, when officials and faculty members measured school offerings against the criteria published by the Middle States Association. Various committees were set up within the school, and these worked on evaluating every facet of the local educational program.

In March of 1963, a committee of fifteen educators, representing the Middle States Association, arrived at the school to spend three days looking into everything and anything connected with education at Blue Ridge.

This committee observed classes, asked questions of students selected by committee members, checked self-evaluation reports and prepared numerous reports to be forwarded to the Commission of Secondary Schools.

The Commission, after thorough study of the reports, decided in favor of placing Blue Ridge on the List of Accredited Secondary Schools.

Initial accreditation to schools new to the List is granted for a maximum of three years. Within that period of time, Blue Ridge will make reports to the Commission describing significant activities of the school and its staff. Annual reports must also be submitted. In general, a complete self-evaluation with a committee visit is required at ten-year intervals.

Mr. Thomas and Mr. Schmick, supervising principal and high school principal respectively, extend congratulations to members of the staff and school board who worked so hard to make accreditation a reality at Blue Ridge.

Committee members check Self-Evaluation reports.

Committee members question Blue Ridge students.
